of the perfectly accomplished Jesuits.

It is a very important consideration in connection with this topic, that the Jesuits enacted the following rule:

No volume shall be published by any of the members without the appropriation of the superiors.

Provinstal letters & and : Where Province in the province in the province of the superiors.

Province the severy degma contained in any works of the featult, unless the back with fact, as combined with the preceding testimonies, which are extracted from the work of the most removance Jesuit authors, it is most mailtent and the most province of the superiors.

THE POPE AND THE WORLD.

There are many who see, in recent developments and through the lessons of history, the continued cherished purpose of the paper of the canon laws are changed. She cannot be for and against democracles without being caught with a lie in one hand and a false statement in the other.

In this new frame-up of law the cardinals will be given new powers in America, and the bishops and Roman Catholic standing army be put in relation to each other, so that orders can be passed along without confusion and without question of jurisdiction.

Now suppose with the addition of more territory, with twelve or more millions of Roman Catholics, the majority of the people of this government fifty years hence would be Roman Catholic, who doubts for a moment that the reigning pope would assume control of legislation and government? He would then define for all of us the meaning of Christianity. * * Our only protection is to hold public sentiment to the side of freedom. The recent Pairbanks ephased along without confusion and without question of jurisdiction.

C, everything is being fixed to capture America for the Holy See and the peilew and whit fing of the pope will be as famillar as the Stars and Stripes.

That is, unless something happens to prevent.

And if the Fairbanks incident had such an effect, what ought we not to expect from the pope's refusal to see former President Roosevelt except upon condition that he put himself under bonds to obey the pope's beheats in Rome! There is no role but that of king of kings and ruler of presidents that will ever be satisfying to the head of the Roman hiers thy. From Liberty.
